REDEFINING POSSIBILITIES

KVTC is not just an ordinary vocational center; it serves as the driving force behind numerous remarkable achievements of differently abled individuals who have successfully integrated into society and lead fulfilling lives. It stands as a symbol of hope, happiness, and meaning for its learners and their families.

Since its establishment in 1991, Karachi Vocational Training Centre (KVTC) has emerged as an outstanding vocational center. Dr. Inam-ur-Rehman Khan, a psychiatrist, founded the center with a vision to offer vocational and technical training, along with parental guidance, to individuals with different abilities. With a rich history of empowerment, KVTC provides a wide range of diversified services, such as technical skills training across 16 trades, physical education and sports programs, job placement assistance, psychosocial support, and parental counseling.

Karachi Vocational Training Centre (KVTC) holds certifications from the Pakistan Centre of Philanthropy (PCP), ensuring its compliance with Shariah guidelines. As a tax-exempted non-profit organization (NPO), KVTC has been actively involved in Karachi, focusing on several crucial areas, including disability rights for both males and females, promoting quality education, reducing inequalities, fostering decent work and economic growth, and facilitating gender mainstreaming through job placement initiatives. Notably, KVTC has operated as a cost-free vocational rehabilitation center, supporting intellectually challenged individuals for the past 32 years.

The successful job placement within the mainstream is a significant testament to the efficacy of our inclusion & diversity. It signifies that these students have received quality vocational training, that is certified and accredited by prestigious bodies, such as STEVTA, NAVTTC & and now the Federal Board of Secondary and Intermediate Education. When differently abled students are job placed, it exemplifies the success of KVTCs commitment to promoting inclusion and equal opportunities.

The Centre's dedicated team of teachers plays a crucial role in instilling confidence and a genuine spirit of accomplishment in each student.

Over the years, this approach has inspired countless families and enabled differently abled individuals to acquire essential life skills, self-assurance, and dignity.

KVTC's excellence in sports education, recognized by Arbour Vale School in the United Kingdom, has garnered national, regional, and international accolades. Sports need no language to break barriers. And this is the reason our students have represented Pakistan beyond borders and shown the world that structured training propels success.

6 differently abled KVTC students clinched 6 medals (5 Gold and 1 Bronze) at the 19 WATA Para Taekwondo Championship held this year in April in Japan.

From amongst the 25 countries represented there, Pakistan stood tall with 6 medals.

And now they are headed to Berlin for the World Games to compete in Swimming, Bocce, Cycling and Soccer, again representing their country. The world will yet again 'turn Green.'
